Fire Destroys Garage at Corner Granger and Homer

Housed Dean's Garage, Factory Machinery

Victor Humm,
George Robertson
Suffer Losses

Fire early today destroyed the brick garage building at South Granger and Homer streets that housed Dean's garage and where Irving I. Hudes had started his New Methods, Inc., factory on a limited, emergency basis.

The total damage was unestimated this morning but it will run into thousands and thousands of dollars, as the building was gutted and all of its contents destroyed.

Neither was the cause of the blaze determined.

The fire was seen shortly after 4:30 a. m. today by Dr. G. R. Johnson, who said the rear part of the building was blazing when he passed. He summoned the fire department.

Property Losses

Those who lost property as a result of the fire were the J. V. Capel estate, owner of the building; Dean Hill, who operated the garage; New Methods, Inc., and its operator, Mr. Hudes; Victor Humm, who had automobiles and parts stored there; and George Robertson, who stored his furniture and personal belongings in the building.

Kenneth Capel said he could not estimate the building loss in dollars but that it appeared the damage might be total.

Dean Hill, who suffered a burned hand in the fire, had a lot of expensive motor machinery destroyed by the fire as well as other belongings.

Autos Destroyed

Victor Humm said he had an approximate $10,000 loss in the fire. Stored in the building and belonging to him was a 1913 Cadillac which Dean had been working on and was nearly through with the job. Humm said that the value of such a car in good working order runs up to $4,000 and $5,000, as collectors of antique cars would pay that much for such a vehicle.

Humm and Hill had no insurance on their losses.

Also belonging to Humm and destroyed was a 1952 Oldsmobile, a 1947 Oldsmobile, part of a 1949 automobile, and a 1948 Kaiser automobile. Humm, too, lost numerous auto parts and new fenders that were stored in the building, as well as the furnace, which he owned.

Robertson said the loss to his furniture and his personal belongings would run from $10,000 to $12,000. His furnishings were stored there while he is building a new home.

Mr. Hudes lost his personal automobile, a 1952 Kaiser, which was stored in the building, as well as factory equipment.

Rush Factory Building

Just all that Hudes lost was not immediately known because he was in St. Louis with Ed Thurmond, his personnel man. However, he had six pieces of equipment installed and was employing seven men in making a rush order of metal stiffs for Christmas delivery.

Besides this machinery and raw material, there was stored on the south side of the building numerous other pieces of packaged equipment, hundreds of camping stoves and a considerable amount of materials.

Sam Potter, Hudes representative here, said he talked with Mr. Hudes in St. Louis this morning and learned that work at the factory site will be concentrated on the small building which is nearing completion and just as soon as equipment can be installed there, work will be resumed.

OLIVIA, Minn. — Russell L. Frazee defeated E. G. Schwartz for Renville County attorney in Tuesday's election by one vote—4,316 to 4,315.

GUTTED OFFICE SECTION of Dean's Garage on South Granger gives mute testimony of the destructiveness of the fire which raged in the building early this morning. The fire left only the walls of the structure standing, completely destroying the entire contents. Lower photo, taken from the rear garage entrance on Homer street three hours after the fire was discovered, shows the interior with smoke still rising from the ruins. (Register Staff Photos)

Church Women to Present Pageant Friday; Collect Clothing for Overseas

"Light From the Lamp," a church women's pageant on the theme "Let the Children Come Unto Me," will be presented Friday evening at 7 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church by the United Church Women, featuring roles taken by members of twelve local churches.

Packages of warm clothing for adults and children will be brought to the church Friday evening and then sent to displaced persons in Europe, Korea and Arabia. The collection this year will be used to distribute surplus food from the United States to the hungry millions. One dollar will take twenty dollars' worth of food to the starving.

The program is as follows:
Part I. Organ prelude, Mrs. Charles Boicourt; meditation and solo, Mrs. Joseph Hart; responsive reading, leader, Miss Olive Dean; solo, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways," Mrs. Judy Hess Gideumb; responsive reading, solo, Mrs. L. N. Davenport.

Army to Draft 23,000 in January

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department today issued a draft call for 23,000 men in January, all to be inducted into the Army.

The 23,000 figure is the same monthly number which has been called since July. It will bring to 1,858,430 the number of men drafted since the start of the Korean war.

The Defense Department said the January draft call is based on maintaining the Army's "approved strength after allowances had been made for enlistments and reenlistments."

The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force will not place calls with Selective Service during January, relying on recruitments to meet their manpower needs.

CHICAGO — Col. Paul Armstrong, director of Illinois selective service, said today the state can be expected to furnish about 1,400 men in the January draft call.

Mallett Holds Slim Lead in Treasurer Race

Only 754 Votes
Over Wright; Nickell
Only GOP Winner

CHICAGO — Democrat David F. Mallett held onto a 754-vote lead over Republican Warren Wright in the torrid race for state treasurer as the tally was virtually completed today.

Mallett led 1,631,436 to 1,360,682 with all but 31 precincts counted. Returns from the 31 "lost" precincts were not expected to be available until the official canvass is completed.

Thirty of the missing precincts were in Cook county—21 of them in Democratic Chicago and nine in the suburbs.

Wright had cut down Mallett's earlier lead as the downstate tally neared completion. He had 866,395 to 644,332 for Mallett downstate. But in Cook County, Mallett built up a margin of 986,730 to 763,648.

Nickell Holds Lead

Republicans appeared certain of capturing the office of superintendent of public instruction. As the tally neared completion, GOP candidate Vernon L. Nickell maintained a comfortable lead over Democrat Mark A. Peterman.

With only 28 precincts missing, Nickell led Peterman by 1,643,037 to 1,608,482 — a margin of 34,555 votes.

Peterman topped Nickell 972,001 to 775,708 in Cook County but trailed 867,329 to 636,481 downstate. Twenty-five of the missing precincts were in Cook County, the other three downstate.

Paced by Sen. Paul H. Douglas' decisive victory over Joseph T. Meek, the Democrats unseated three Republican congressmen, swept the field in Cook County, elected three university of Illinois trustees, and made deep inroads into GOP control of the State Legislature.

Charges and counter-charges of voting irregularities boiled up in the wake of the hard-fought campaign.

Both Douglas and Mallett notified U. S. Dist. Atty. Robert Ticken that they wanted the "conduct" of election officials investigated in certain counties. A telegram from Mallett was received today by Ticken and he said he would look into the matter. He already has informed Douglas he found no immediate evidence of law violations in Boone County, where Douglas had asked an investigation.

Ticken said in many instances of ballot handling, Illinois laws were archaic, dating back to time before modern methods of communication and transport. But he said that was a matter for the State Legislature. Douglas also had complained of "slow counts" in Du Page and Kane counties.

Meanwhile Ticken said 70 election officials, clerks, judges and others, from 14 Chicago precincts would be called before a federal grand jury tonight. They will be asked to give names and addresses and their appearance continued generally.

Gillespie Asks Reconsideration Of PMW Decision

SPRINGFIELD — Gillespie Local No. 1 of the Progressive Mine Workers of America has asked for a "special convention" to reconsider the decision to move the PMW offices from Springfield to the Belleville area.

The Gillespie local asked all other union locals to "protest" the action taken at the recent constitutional convention. The local's own protest was printed in the union's monthly paper over the signatures of President George Baima, former state president, and Secretary Elmer Fellin.

The decision to move the headquarters was among a series of changes voted at the recent convention. All convention actions requiring referendum approval will be voted on Nov. 8.

Food Items Stolen From Newcastles School; Bixler Entered

Food items were stolen last night by burglars who broke into Newcastle school on Route 45 between Carrier Mills and Stonefort.

A quantity of wieners, hamburger, cheese, butter, lard and canned beef was stolen.

Entrance was made through a window and the door was opened to remove the food, Deputy Sheriff Henry Devar reported.

Sheriff Paul Spangler today investigated the break-in last night of Bixler school south of Eldorado. The building was entered through a basement window but nothing was missing this morning.

Speaker-Designate Rayburn Warns Republicans Must Lay Charges 'On Line'

WASHINGTON — Speaker-designate Sam Rayburn said today that when the Democrats take control of the House they will demand that the Republicans "put up or shut up" on their claims of mass dismissal of federal security risks. Obviously irritated by Republican campaign charges that scores of holdovers from past Democratic administrations have been found questionable security risks, Rayburn said in a telephone interview from his home in Bonham, Tex., that the Democrats will "make them (the Republicans) lay it on the line on who they've fired and for what."

The Texas Democrat, whose election to a new term as speaker was assured when Democrats captured House control in Tuesday's election, made clear that investigations will rank along with important legislation on the agenda of the new 84th Congress.

Will Face Controversies

The new Congress will face such controversial legislative issues as taxes and renewal of the flexible price support farm program. Democrats, with a 232-to-203 House majority, will be obliged to take the responsibility for what the House does on these issues.

On taxes, Rayburn said the Democrats will consider renewing their proposal to boost personal income tax exemptions which President Eisenhower successfully blocked this summer. A move may also develop among some Democrats to try to repeal the Republican-sponsored plan giving tax relief to persons who receive income from dividends.

Rayburn said the "whole give-away program" of the Republican administration will bear looking into, particularly the Dixon - Yates private power contract in the Tennessee Valley area.

"Our boys have got some pretty good footholds to work on," Rayburn said.

He indicated that the Democrats might use the device of holding

Sheppard Pale As Death Scene Is Described

CLEVELAND, Ohio. — Dr. Sam H. Sheppard sat with eyes closed and face pale today as the state's attorney described how his wife was beaten to death and pointed to him as the murderer.

The 30-year-old brain surgeon's mouth trembled and he wiped a hand across his eyelids as Asst. Prosecutor John J. Mahon described to a jury of seven men and five women the death scene in the chill, windy pre-dawn hours of last July 4.

The state made its opening statement in its effort to send "Dr. Sam" to the electric chair. It accused him of the deliberate and premeditated slaying of his pretty wife, Marilyn, 31, after an argument about his affairs with "other women."

Mahon, a 63-year-old widower who has a record of 100 murder convictions in 22 years as a prosecutor, told the jury that Mrs. Sheppard's head "had been brutally beaten."

"The Evidence Will Show" "The evidence will show there were about 25 blows on the body, almost all on the head," Mahon said. "They were delivered with such violence that the skull was all crushed and fractured. The hands were marked — one nail nearly torn out."

"There were 15 blows alone above the eyes. They were delivered with such force that they fractured the skull; the nose was broken and there were injuries around the eyes."

Mahon spoke matter-of-factly for one hour and five minutes. He raised his voice only once. That was when he told the jury that Sheppard and his wife had quarreled over his "activities with other women."

The prosecutor said Sheppard last March "lived with Susan Hayes" for several days at an osteopath friend's home in California. Miss Hayes, 24-year-old saucy-faced, red-haired laboratory technician, has admitted intimacies with the handsome, athletic doctor.

Rites Friday at Eldorado for Mrs. Morgan Awalt

The funeral of Mrs. Morgan Awalt, resident of Eldorado who died yesterday at 3 a. m. in the Eldorado nursing home, will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the First Methodist church. Rev. C. C. Lowe will officiate, and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

The body now lies in state at the Martin funeral home.

Close Victory In Oregon is Deciding Factor

Democrats Also Hold Slim Working Majority in House

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Democrats captured control of the Senate early today with an eyelash victory in Oregon that dashed Republican hopes of maintaining a partial grip on the reins of power in the 84th Congress.

In a final pitter-patter of Oregon ballots that wound up the hardest fought mid-term election of recent history, Democrat Richard L. Neuberger unseated Republican Sen. Guy Cordon and gave the Democrats a gossamer grip on Senate control.

Barring reversals by the recounts demanded by losers in New Jersey and expected in Oregon and elsewhere, the lineup in the new Senate which meets Jan. 5 will be: Democrats 48, Republicans 47, independent 1.

The pre-election lineup was: Republicans 49, Democrats 46, independent 1.

The lone independent, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, has said he will vote with the Democrats to organize the Senate, giving them a makeshift majority.

In the House, the Democrats will have a slim working majority if they observe party discipline and vote together—which they do not always do. The standing there on the basis of final unofficial returns:

Democrats, 232; Republicans, 203.

The pre-election lineup: Republicans, 218, Democrats, 212, independent 1, vacancies 4.

Gain of 20 Seats

That represents a Democratic gain of 20 seats over the number they held in the expiring 83rd Congress.

The see-saw Oregon race kept control of Congress in doubt for more than 24 hours and New Jersey's Senate race was even closer.

Indeed the New Jersey outcome is not finally settled yet since an official recount has been ordered of the tally which gave Republican Clifford Case Jr., a protégé of President Eisenhower, a plurality of 1,392 votes over Rep. Charles R. Howell, a Democrat.

Neuberger, 41-year-old state senator and free-lance writer, had trailed Cordon by as many as 13,000 votes in early returns, but he began to pull up on his opponent late Wednesday. Wednesday night he moved into a narrow lead and clung to it until his victory was nailed down early today.

He was the first Democrat to win a Senate seat in Oregon in 40 years.

The Pacific Northwest upset was a bitter pill for Republican leaders who had previously thought that the GOP would salvage control of the Senate from the off-year balloting in which the Democrats picked up seven formerly Republican governorships as well as a majority in the House.

According to insiders, White House spirits rose abruptly Wednesday when House and Senate losses appeared to be less than early returns foreshadowed. But

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

This "Tip on Traffic Safety" is aimed primarily at the "Younger Set"—the bicycle riders. Illinois law specifically states that bicycle riders are subject to traffic rules and regulations (Section 24, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic), but many of them pay little or no attention to the rules.

signs, traffic lanes and pedestrian rights just the same as automobile drivers.

In other words, a bike rider approaching a traffic signal with the red light on is required to stop and wait for it to turn to green before crossing the intersection. A bike rider is required to come to a complete stop at a Stop sign. He is required to keep to the right, and to yield the right-of-way to pedestrians when making turns. While you are still a bike rider, get accustomed to traffic safety practices. It will be very useful to you when you become an automobile driver.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to: CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Delegation to Ask General Assembly to Liberalize State's Old Age Pensions

By BLOND E. CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(Special)—Liberalization of the state's old age pensions has been asked of Gov. William G. Stratton by the Golden Old Age Pension Clubs, Inc., of Illinois.

Stratton told a delegation from the group he agrees there should be higher pensions for the aged but did not commit himself to a definite amount nor to elimination of present restrictions.

So the group plans to concentrate on the 69th General Assembly and will present proposals to eliminate many restrictions of the present pension law and allow all persons, the poor as well as the wealthy, a flat pension of $100 a month. The organization is headed by Mrs. Vey Bullard, Chicago. The vice president is E. J. Sloat, 711 7th Ave., Moline. Mrs. Bullard claims a membership of between 5,000 and 6,000.

Sloat said the group is working for the straight $100 a month pension without a "means" provision as is contained in the present state pension. Others in the delegation which called on Stratton, included Mrs. Bonnie Wareham, Rockford; Mrs. Frank B. Simpson, 809 24th Street, Rock Island; and Warren S. Fuller, 2006 7th Ave., Moline. All hold executive posts in the state organization.

The governor, Mrs. Bullard said, told the delegation he agreed there should be a better pension for the aged but did not commit himself to their program. She claims the present law was amended to increase the maximum monthly pension to $75 through their organization's efforts but that she is not able to find out how many are getting that amount.

(According to the Illinois Public Aid Commission no one had as yet been paid the $75 maximum as of September, 1953, when the last compilation was made. At that time the IPAC said the highest pension was $71, paid to 5,535 persons although many actually ran well above the $75 payment because of extra allowances for hospitalization, medication and high rents.)

The group's proposal, Mrs. Bullard said, provides that there be no restrictions placed on a state old age pension. Every person who is 60, she said, should get it without the provision that to be eligible they must show they do not have the "means" to support themselves and that they have no close relative who can support them. She would eliminate all reference to the "means" clause in a state pension law.

Allocation of the entire Illinois share of earmarked federal aid funds for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1954, to the Chicago International airport (O'Hare Field) does not mean discrimination against six other major downstate airports. Federal officials said the "funds are spent on projects which provide the greatest benefit to the public generally."

Arthur E. Abney, Harco, director of the Illinois State Department of Aeronautics, said that the U. S. Department of Commerce allocated $1,664,884 and earmarked all of it for O'Hare Field, Chicago, although he had advised the federal department that airport projects at Moline, Jacksonville, Peoria, Wheaton, Salem and Danville were eligible for assistance.

However, Abney said, the U. S. department is studying the possibility of providing assistance for the downstate airports. He said some assistance may be approved for them by the end of the fiscal year. As Abney was releasing the information that the entire federal allocation went to Chicago, Gov. Stratton disclosed he had approved $60,000 of state funds for improving a gravel runway at Jacksonville.

Although earmarking the entire 1953-54 allocation for Chicago, the U. S. has allocated funds to the six airports over the years. A compilation shows they have received a total of $1,654,233 to date. Largest allocation was for Moline — $716,017. Shares for the others: Oneida Lake, 80 square miles in were: Peoria $127,170; Jacksonville area, is the largest lake completely $80,126; Wheaton $103,311; Salem within the borders of New York $50,926; and Danville $557,673. 1 state.

Four Democrats, Two Republicans Elected In Williamson County

Democrats elected four and Republicans two for county offices in Williamson county Tuesday.

Republicans elected were A. R. Cagle for county judge and Russell Emery for county superintendent of schools. The Democrats elected Charles E. Harris, county clerk, Carl E. Miller, sheriff, Wayman Leroy Welborn Jr., treasurer and Milo Cardwell county commissioner.

The vote:

County judge: A. R. Cagle R, 9,791, E. N. Bowen D, 9,474.

County clerk: Charles H. Harris D 9,592, Harry Rodd R 9,441.

County treasurer: Wayman L. Welborn D 9,756, Adolph E. Fluck R 9,468.

Sheriff: Carl E. Miller D 10,157, Lawrence Cannon R 9,373.

The LOOKLESS OOF is a retailer married to last year's business — to last year's stock, last year's ideas, last year's problems.

He can't see an opportunity two inches away, and wouldn't know a trend from a banana.

What he has learned from experience is what to do in case the past should ever return.

Fortunately the oof is a rare creature.

Most retailers know that selling means keeping in tune with the times.

They're sensitive to changes in customer preferences, and re-stock their shelves accordingly.

They're quick to take advantage of manufacturers' newspaper advertising — by featuring the product in their own store displays . . . and by including the brand in their own newspaper ads.

Since they themselves advertise in newspapers, they know that any manufacturer who does the same is really in earnest — and really is out to win the market.

A modern retailer knows that the best advertising is the kind that reaches all his customers. And he likes the manufacturer who thinks the same.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

Out Our Way

Boy Passes Up Private School to Stay with Family

MONROE, La. (U-P)—Little Joe Cooper has passed up a private school and college education which well-wishers across the nation were financing to help win his release from a reformatory.

The 10-year-old fatherless boy was to have left Wednesday to enter a school at Bell Buckle, Tenn., but suddenly changed his mind in order to remain with his family with the approval of the Juvenile Court.

Contributions for Joe's education began pouring in during a public furor after the boy was sent to the reformatory for using a loaded shotgun to defend his mongrel dog, Tippi, "the only thing that's mine."

Former Gov. James A. Noe, who proposed the school plan, said the fund campaign is being called off. He said money already received will be returned or given to Joe's married sister, Mrs. Linda Foy, who now has custody.

Famed French Painter Dies

NICE, France (U-P)—Famed French painter Henri Matisse, stormy pioneer of modern art, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 85.

The French art world was in mourning for the artist who was in the midst of completing his last great work as a monument to God—a chapel at Venice on this Mediterranean coast.

He collapsed while working on the design of a stained-glass window for the little Dominican chapel of Notre-Dame-Du-Rosaire at Venice, which he considered his last important achievement.

Benjamin Franklin was the 15th child in a family of 17.

Democrats Capture Control of Senate

that was before control of the Senate shifted to the Democrats.

Grief at White House

There was genuine grief at the White House over the defeat of Sen. John Sherman Cooper in Kentucky by former vice president Alben W. Barkley. Cooper stood high with Mr. Eisenhower.

No White House tears were evident, however, over the defeat of Republican Joseph T. Meek in Illinois by Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas. Mr. Eisenhower appeared during the campaign to be a reluctant supporter of Meek. In Illinois, as in New Jersey and Indiana, the old Taft-Dewey feud hurt Republican chances.

At his news conference Wednesday, Mr. Eisenhower was in a forgiving, compromising mood, referring to his "friends" among the Democrats and his plans to confer with that party's leaders during the next two years when the Congress will be in enemy hands. The President evidently has in mind seeking a peaceful middle-of-the-road course.

No Comfort From Past

The immediate past promises small comfort for Mr. Eisenhower. When Herbert Hoover was president for two years with a Democratic House he had trouble almost beyond his capacity to bear, some of it from pure politicking in Congress. Former President Truman feuded with the Republican 80th Congress, but made its record his own political asset.

But as of today, Mr. Eisenhower is looking for no fight, only sweetness and light. He told news conference questioners Wednesday he regretted his campaign remark that Democratic control of Congress would bring a "cold war" to American politics.

The President laid considerable of his personal prestige on the line in this campaign which he had not intended to enter. He and Vice President Richard M. Nixon carried the load. The vice president gained stature in his party by his vigorous efforts. Mr. Eisenhower's late campaign efforts probably pulled New Jersey and Ohio out of the fire. But in New York, Kentucky, Delaware and Michigan, where the President made special efforts, the returns were against him.

On the Democratic side, the governors were bright and shining stars. Gov. Frank J. Lausche starts a fifth Ohio term, sure to figure as a 1956 presidential nominee. Gov. G. Mennen Williams won a fourth term in Michigan, and he may have a chance at bigger things.

Boom For Stevenson

The 1956 boom for Adlai E. Stevenson already is sounding, led by Mr. Truman. Stevenson was the Democratic top campaigner. A New York governor always figures in presidential speculation and the state's next one will be Averell Harriman, favored by the astute political counsel of Tammy boss Carmine DeSapio.

By Williams Nationalists Bomb Red Batteries

TAIPEI, Formosa (U-P)—Chinese Nationalist bombers fought their way through Communist interceptors today to bomb Red batteries that have been shelling a tiny Nationalist-held island on the northern end of Formosa's outpost line.

Nationalist air force sources said Communist fighters, some of them Russian-built MIGs, tried four times this morning to halt Nationalist raids on Tachen Island in the Tachen group about 220 miles north of Formosa.

Ridgway with Seven Returning Lettermen Opens Basketball Play Friday Night

With seven returning lettermen around which to build his squad, Coach Al Penman is hopeful that Ridgway's lean basketball days are in the past for the season, anyway. The Eagles open their season Friday night at Cave-in-Rock. Ridgway's club this year will also have some height to go with its experience. Although no member of the squad towers over the six-foot mark, five players touch it. On the squad are five seniors, two juniors, a sophomore and two freshmen.

Graduation cost the Eagles two key players in high-scoring Don Hise and scrappy guard Dick Sturgill. It also took Leon Drone, Keith Sanders and Ron and Don Rider.

14 Conference Games

But Coach Penman is not too dismayed. His boys came along slow last year, but toward the end of the season were showing continued improvement and team play. He expects the squad to start slow but come along much faster this year than last.

The team will be built around veterans Charlie Barter, Carroll Downen and Denny Drone with Pat Drone, John Abell, Don Crayne and John Mills potential starters, too.

Ridgway has 14 Greater Egyptian conference games and six ties with other schools, including such stalwarts as McLeansboro, Eldorado, Norris City and Thompsonville. The Eagles will participate in two tournaments — the Equality Invitational in early December and the annual conference meet in January.

Coach Penman announced that the Ridgway Invitational tournament would not be held this year. Last year the team won six of 24.

SAN FRANCISCO — Lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn and Jimmy Carter of New York planned to sign officially today for their 15-round title bout at the Cow Palace Nov. 17.

CHICAGO — William Harridge, president of the American League, today hailed the approval of a bond issue to build a major league park in San Francisco. "The citizens of San Francisco have shown they are genuine sports fans who are not unmindful of the possibility of their town some day becoming a major league city," Harridge said.

NEW YORK — Right wing Wally Hergesheimer of the New York Rangers started skating Wednesday for the first time since his left leg was fractured in a game against the Boston Bruins last March. Team officials are hopeful he will be able to return to active duty within two weeks.

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. — It's now Alderman Johnny Sain. Sain, New York Yankees' veteran pitcher who resides here and operates an automobile agency, was elected an alderman in Tuesday's election with the largest vote of any candidate in the city races.

WIN CLOSE ONES
WAKE FOREST, N. C. (NEA) —Although the Wake Forest-North Carolina football series dates back to 1888, only three games have been decided by one point. The Deacons won all three.

OVER—Otto Graham really went over against the Cardinals in Chicago. Blocking for the Cleveland Browns' quarterback were Lou Groza, 76, and Abe Giron, 64. The picture is strikingly remindful of the Marines' flag-raising on Suribachi.

Dean Millenbire, who starred in basketball at McLeansboro high school and entered St. Louis university this fall, has made the freshman squad at St. Louis U. A recent story from the university listed a 14-man squad and Millenbire was included.

Eldorado's football team finishes the season on the road, both of them night games. The Eagles travel to Marion Friday night then go to Fairfield for a night game Armistice Day. The Eldorado-Fairfield game is an afternoon affair when played on the Eagle field, but with Fairfield host it is a night game, starting at 7:30. A holiday night game is somewhat unusual.

ANSWERS TO THE SPORTING NEWS SPORTS QUIZ

1. On November 6, 1869, Rutgers winning, six goals to four.
2. Eddie Yost of the Washington Senators. Yost attended New York University while he was active in the majors.
3. Ted Lowrey went the distance, once in 1949 and once in 1950. Lee Savold is the only man listed who did not go the distance.
4. Calvin Coolidge.
5. Solly Hemus of the Cardinals in his first year of pro ball, 1946, lost the Pioneer League batting championship to Charles Hensen. Hensen had .363, Hemus .3630.

Shooting fans will have a chance to show their skill — or luck — at the Harrisburg Skeet and Gun club, starting Sunday of this week and continuing indefinitely. The Harrisburg Lions club has arranged to operate the club. There will be spot shooting this Sunday. If there is sufficient interest, skeet will be added later.

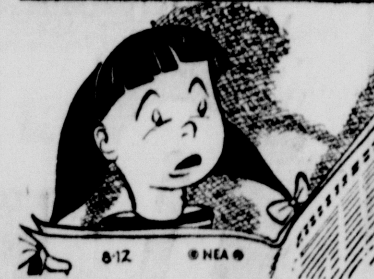

There's always talk that the Dodgers may use Gil Hodges behind the plate next year if Roy Campanella's operation doesn't pan out right. But then comes the question: "Who's on first." No one answers. Hodges, says The Sporting News, is generally rated as about the best first baseman in the business.

The famed comedian, Joe E. Brown, now 62 years old, still has regrets over having failed to make good as a baseball player. In a St. Louis appearance recently, Brown, in talking with a writer of The Sporting News, recalled his two-week tryout with St. Paul back in 1912. Recalling his long stage career, Brown said he still gets a thrill out of walking out on the stage, talking to people, making them laugh. "But," he added, "I would have traded a little of that for a few more base-hits."

The Sporting News in a recent canvass of the 16 major league farm directors asked for predictions on who was the top rookie prospect for 1955. On the basis of 1954 achievement, the man who got the biggest vote was Herb Score, the Indianapolis pitcher who'll go to Cleveland. Close behind him were Bill Wirtz, outfielder called up by the Cardinals, and Elston Howard, catcher who will return to the Yankees for another trial.

Estimates are that nearly half of the students at Southern Illinois university earn at least one-fourth of their expenses by part-time work in school or at home.

Yogi Berra Signs $45,000 Contract With the Yankees

NEW YORK —Yogi Berra, who as an American leaguer was ashamed of the way the Cleveland Indians played in the World Series, declared today that "They won't get a chance to flop that way next year because the Yankees are gonna be back in it instead."

Berra, a $45,000 a year ball player capitalist, had just signed for a $5,000 raise, and as the highest paid catcher in the history of baseball, was very chummy about the Yankee chances for 1955.

"We gotta win the pennant," he said. "I just couldn't stand watching another turkey of a World Series like that on television."

"I can't understand what happened to Cleveland. They sure didn't fold up like that when they played us. They're gonna hear plenty about it around the league next summer. It could be pretty rough on them. The bench jockeys will let 'em have it."

Berra, who undoubtedly will be the highest paid Yankee player next season, based his pennant prediction on improved pitching.

Carrier Mills High To Offer Season Basketball Tickets

Season tickets for the Carrier Mills high school basketball home schedule will be offered for sale this season, it has been announced by Warren Jennings, CMCHS principal.

Cheer leaders will canvass all of Carrier Mills early next week in a ticket-selling campaign. The season starts Saturday, Nov. 13. Carrier Mills has a nine-game home schedule and tickets for the entire season may be purchased at $4 for adults and $2 for children. This will make a savings of 50 cents on the adult admissions and 25 cents for children on a season basis.

This will be the first time season tickets have been offered for sale in Carrier Mills. "A season ticket does not mean a reserved seat," Mr. Jennings pointed out.

Bull Dogs Play at West Frankfort Friday Night; Game Should Be Close

There are two South Seven conference football games on the Friday night card. One should be close. The other probably won't be.

On paper, Harrisburg and West Frankfort on the Red Bird field should be a tight contest. The Red Birds have been improving with each game.

The league-leading Centralia Orphans should have little trouble with Mt. Vernon in the other loop engagement.

For comparative purposes, which don't mean too much, both Harrisburg and West Frankfort have tied the same team—Herrin. The Frankfort-Herrin score was 7 to 7. Harrisburg and Herrin battled to a 26 to 26 tie.

Also, for comparative purposes, Eldorado beat West Frankfort 20 to 14 and Harrisburg 19 to 13. And next season, based his pennant prediction on improved pitching.

Eldorado Plays Marion

The Red Birds started out by tying Carbondale 6 to 6, then bowed to Johnston City 19 to 6 before winning over Effingham, 25 to 13. Then followed the games with Mt. Vernon, Eldorado and Herrin.

In Doty, Frankfort has a ball carrier who has been very good on given nights.

In non-conference games, Marion will entertain Eldorado, and Herrin will travel to Johnston City.

HTHS Freshmen

Come from Behind; Gain 21-21 Tie

The Harrisburg freshman football team ended its season last night at West Frankfort, tying the Frankfort frosh 21 to 21 after the locals were behind with less than a minute to play.

The tie gave the freshmen three wins and a tie for the season. Harrisburg was behind 7 to 0 at halftime but in the third quarter Donald Biggs ran 30 yards to score and Bob Clark ran the extra point to even the count.

Then Harrisburg went ahead when Clark scored on a running play and again ran for the extra point.

Frankfort came back and scored twice to go ahead 21 to 14 and in the closing part of the contest Clark threw a 50-yard pass to Bill Yates, who was stopped on the five. Clark went over with 50 seconds remaining, then passed to Yates for the extra point.

The locals had a hard time with a 200-pound freshman fullback, who made good yardage for the opposition.

NEW WRINKLE ADDED
BOULDER, Colo.—(NEA)—Carroll Hardy, Colorado's all-purpose halfback, has added another move to his offensive repertoire. The Buffalo star now placekicks the points after touchdown.

Demo Victory Will Overhaul Investigations

WASHINGTON (AP)—A possible overhaul of congressional Red-hunting machinery loomed today in the wake of the Democratic election victory that ousted Republicans Joseph R. McCarthy, William E. Jenner and Harold H. Velde from key investigating committee chairmanships.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will be replaced as chairman of the Senate investigating subcommittee in the 84th Congress by Sen. John L. McClellan, stern-visaged Arkansas Democrat who sat as one of McCarthy's judges in the 36-day televised Army-McCarthy hearings last summer.

Sources close to McClellan said today he favors creation of a joint Senate-House committee to investigate Communist activities. They said he feels his own subcommittee should concentrate on its original mission of checking up on government waste and corruption.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), in line to succeed Velde (R-Ill.) as chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, announced Wednesday that he favors abolishing that group entirely and transferring its Communist-investigating functions to the House Judiciary committee "where they should have been all along."

Walter said he thought that the change would curb "abuse of power" by the Un-American Activities committee, which has been one of the most controversial committees in the House.

There was no firm word on who would succeed Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) as chairman of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), who held the chairmanship the last time the Democrats controlled the Senate, died before the election.

Sen. Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia, a member of the Democratic party's liberal wing, will succeed Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) as chairman of the Judiciary committee, parent group to the Internal Security subcommittee. Kilgore is believed to be sympathetic to McClellan's plan for setting up a joint Senate-House watchdog committee to handle Communist inquiries.

Army to Suspend Most Training for Christmas Holiday
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today that all training except for brand new recruits will be suspended over the Christmas holiday period to permit service men to take holiday leaves. Training will be suspended from Dec. 18 to Jan. 3 so that the Army can follow the customary practice of giving about half its personnel leave over Christmas and the remainder over New Year's Day.

Office of Defense Mobilization Outlines Aid to Fluorspar Industry

The Office of Defense Mobilization in Washington has informed C. W. Bishop of Cartersville, member of Congress, that it is assisting the fluorspar industry in the solution of its problems.

Arthur S. Flemming, its director, wired Bishop that a program to stockpile metallurgical grade fluorspar was instituted several weeks ago but had not yet resulted in definite procurement contracts because difficulties were encountered in connection with stockpile specifications as they now exist and in connection with the current market price.

The complete text of the telegram: "Dear Mr. Bishop: Inasmuch as the current situation in the fluorspar industry is of great concern to you and many of your constituents, I should like to inform you of the work this office has undertaken to assist the industry in the solution of its problems.

"Revised emergency supply and requirement estimates have caused us to institute a stockpile purchasing program for metallurgical grade fluorspar a few weeks ago. However, this purchasing program has not yet resulted in definite procurement contracts, inasmuch as difficulties were encountered in connection with stockpile specifications as they now exist as well as in connection with the current deep-pressed market price. As you know, prices in the fluorspar industry are seriously affected by foreign imports at prices substantially below our domestic production costs. This in spite of existing tariffs.

"Furthermore this office has requested the department of the interior, whose interests include the problems of the domestic mining industries, to prepare basic analysis of the domestic situation with regard to fluorspar as well as recommendations for a comprehensive program to maintain adequate levels of domestic production. We expect to receive the Department of Interior's report at an early date and may then be in a position to implement any recommendations which may be made. Such recommendations may possibly include reference to a price level which would be required to maintain the domestic industry.

"Representatives of the domestic fluorspar industry were in Washington recently to attend hearings before the U. S. Tariff Commission. During their visit they were given an opportunity to consult with members of my staff as well as with members of the staffs of other interested government agencies, especially the Department of the Interior. We believe that these discussions were helpful to the members of the industry as well as to the attending government officials. No doubt you will have heard details from Mr. Clyde L. Flynn Jr. of Elizabethtown, Ill.

"It was my hope to be able to send you more definite news earlier but the studies undertaken by the various agencies consumed more time than I expected. This office will issue definite instructions on this matter at an early date."

Sen. Johnson Will Take Over Senate Leadership; End GOP Chairmanships

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic Senate victory will thrust a youthful Texan, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, into the role of majority floor leader of the upper chamber.

Barring a reversal which could result from recounts in close contests, Johnson will take over when the 84th Congress assembles Jan. 5 as the quarterback of the Senate program.

Democratic control also will put 14 Democrats in charge of standing Senate committees, ending the chairmanships of such Republicans as Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy (Wis.) and Styles Bridges (N. H.). Inasmuch as President Eisenhower remains in the White House, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, majority floor leader for the past year, will still be the administration's principal spokesman on the Senate floor.

Johnson, 46, was elected Tuesday to his second six-year Senate term after 12 years of service in the House. He was chosen Democratic floor leader two years ago after two years as party whip.

Teamed with Johnson in the party leadership is Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky, Democratic whip and assistant floor leader with the border-states' knack for working with both the Northern and Southern wings of the party.

Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, dean of the Senate, is expected to be the Democratic candidate for Senate president pro tempore, who presides in the absence of the vice president.

Johnson is expected to call the nine-man Senate Democratic Policy Committee and prospective committee chairmen into session next week to discuss development of a legislative program.

With Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), prospective House Speaker in the next Congress, Johnson is committed to seek a new farm law, "improvements" in labor law, a natural resources program and other legislative objectives.

Johnson is known to be eager for a relatively short session of Congress next year with more stress on legislation than investigations. There will be Senate investigations under a Democratic regime, but Johnson will take a dim view of any spectacular inquiries like some of those which have characterized recent sessions of Congress.

Record Number of Women--16--Win Election to New 84th Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record number of women will be sitting in the halls of Congress next Jan. 5—some at the expense of veteran male campaigners.

Sixteen women won election to the 84th Congress, an increase of three over the present lineup. One of the women in the 83rd Congress—Sen. Eva H. Bowring (R-Neb.)—did not run in Tuesday's election, but all other incumbents were re-elected.

Two women Democrats—Mrs. Coya Knutson of Minnesota, and Mrs. Martha W. Griffiths of Michigan—scored upsets over incumbent Republican congressmen Tuesday. And a third, Mrs. Edith Green of Oregon, defeated Republican Tom Lawson McCall in a nip-and-tuck fight.

Another Democrat, Mrs. Iris Blitch of Georgia, defeated an incumbent Democratic congressman in a primary battle in September and was unopposed for election Tuesday.

Mrs. Knutson, a former Oklee, Minn., state legislator, became the first woman in Minnesota history to win a seat in Congress. She defeated Rep. Harold C. Hagen (R), a veteran of 12 years in the House.

Mrs. Griffiths, a Detroit attorney and former Recorder's Court judge, ousted Rep. Charles G. Oakman (R). Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) will be the only woman senator in the 84th Congress. She was re-elected by a comfortable margin Sept. 13.

The term of Mrs. Bowring, who was appointed to the vacancy created by the death of Sen. Dwight Griswold, ended with Tuesday's election. Another Republican, Mrs.

CANT MISS—Lovely Marie McKis, of London, England, has one of those faces that can win her many a beauty contest. She has just been named "Miss Cinerama" in connection with a new film opening at a London theater, where she will be the leading usherette.

87-Year-Old Rushville Doctor Named Illinois General Practitioner of Year

CHICAGO — An 87-year-old country family doctor, who with 64 years of medical practice behind him still makes midnight calls to administer to the needs of his patients, has been selected as the Illinois General Practitioner for 1955.

Dr. Henry Orson Munson of Rushville, seat of Schuyler county, in western Illinois, has been chosen by the Illinois State Medical society for this signal honor, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Harold M. Camp of Monmouth, secretary of the society.

Dr. Munson, age notwithstanding, is president of the Schuyler County Medical society, Methodist church Sunday school superintendent and active Rotarian.

Dr. Henry Orson Munson

A certificate and medal, emblematic of the selection, will be presented to the veteran family doctor at the annual meeting of the Illinois State Medical society in May. His name will be submitted to the American Medical association as a candidate for the national award, to be made in December.

Dr. Munson has answered calls from as far away as 85 miles. He has operated on his patients in hospitals in Beardstown, Macomb, Canton and Monmouth, the latter 60 miles away. Many "kitchen surgeries" were performed in emergency situations. He has delivered about 4,000 babies. Last week, he answered a call at 11 o'clock at night and stayed with his patient for three hours until a crisis was passed.

He has served as president or secretary of the Schuyler County Medical society on and off, and has been president for the last six years. The 50-year member emblem of the Illinois State Medical society was presented to him in 1940.

During World War I, Dr. Munson served in France as a captain in the Medical Corps of the Army. In World War II, because of age, he had to be content to medical examiner in his county for the Selective Service System, working without pay.

He joined the Rotary Club in Rushville shortly after its organization in 1937 and holds a 100 per cent attendance record. He served as county coroner in 1928-1932. His dairy farm gets his active attention.

Dr. Munson has three daughters: Mrs. Helena Pickering, with whom he makes his home in Rushville; Mrs. Marian Smith of Gainesville, Fla., and Mrs. Harriette Klatt of Baltimore. He has seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. A grandson, Kenneth M. Klatt of Baltimore, is a third-year student in the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

Using the same "heat of fusion" principle proposed for storing solar heat for conditioning houses, scientists have developed a new package for shipping medical specimens that maintains temperature for three days.

Headlines in Europe Feature U. S. Election

LONDON — European reaction to the American elections drew headlines almost as big as in the United States.

Interpretation of the results ranged all the way from a defeat for President Eisenhower to a rebuff for Wisconsin Sen. Joseph McCarthy to forecasts of a change in American foreign policy.

London's afternoon newspaper the Star bannered "Democrats on way to beating Ike."

"Setback for Eisenhower," Vienna's Neuer Kurier headlined.

Berlin's Machtdenische boldly proclaimed "Election sensation in U. S. A.—defeat for Eisenhower."

The Berlin Der Abend said editorially "the loser is named McCarthy."

Paris' France Soir said "the Americans voted against the Republicans in order to defend their standard of living."

The tremendous effect that American policy exerts on peoples and governments in Britain and on the Continent made any change of the political course in the United States almost as personal to the newspaper reader in Paris as in Paducah.

Stockholm's Expressen said U. S. foreign policy now may be "modified."

In Switzerland, the Basle Arbeiter Zeitung said "a Democrat victory would favorably influence U. S. foreign policy because it would free Eisenhower of the chains which fetter him to that reactionary group which, in the foreign field, is operating just as unscrupulously as it does at home in order to make their profits."

Bevan and the Reds

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Recently, through the generosity of a popular American television program, Aneurin Bevan, left wing Labor Party leader in Britain, came into a good many of our homes.

As is usual with Brother Bevan, he tried to suggest that it is not Russia's fault but largely America's that we do not have a firmer peace in 1954. He wants us all to take at face value Soviet proposals for world disarmament, for free elections and unity in Germany, and so on.

There's no point in re-arguing all these propositions with Bevan.
But we ought to try to grasp once and for all what makes him so blind to the real world around him.

Bevan is governed chiefly by his emotional impulses. We all have them, of course, but some of us keep them under fairly rational check and some do not.

Bevan is wedded to the pat formulas of doctrinaire socialism with a passionate, consuming fever.
That explains his blindness.

For one thing, he sees Russian communism as a great Socialist experiment. And not even the mountainous volume of fact revealing the bloody brutality of the Soviet dictatorship at home and the ruthless course of conquest it pursues abroad can convince the British demagogue that the "experiment" is a menace to humanity.

He cannot shake the lingering notion that anyone working in the name of socialism is basically on the right track and ought to be believed. The Reds' string of broken promises makes no impact upon him. He always favors giving them another chance, 24 hours after they have kicked away the previous one.

Secondly, Bevan recoils from the real world because he sees it interfering with the Socialist experiment in Britain and the rest of Europe. When the Labor Party was in power in Britain and nationalization of major industries were going forward, the doctrinaire Sovietists were happy. The outbreak of the Korean war, revealing nakedly the Communist purpose of conquest, plunged them into gloom.

Since then Bevan and his followers have consistently opposed vital defense measures and actually decided an attitude of alertness by the West. For the neat Socialist blueprints can't be followed if arms must be made.

The tragic thing is that if communism triumphed because of slack Western defenses, neither socialism nor anything else short of communism itself would survive. Bevan's pretty blueprints would be burned in the first Rus-

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
BY DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Must Cope With Weeks-Mitchell Feud; Mohammed Ali Works TV Miracle.

WASHINGTON. — Now that the President has the elections and his Denver vacation out of the way, there is a problem right inside his own cabinet which will require expert and immediate attention.
Otherwise, he's likely to have a cabinet resignation blow up in his face.

Only he phenomenal patience of Secretary of Labor James Mitchell has prevented such a blow-up before this. All summer he has been turning the other cheek to the rough tactics of his colleague,
Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, but how long it will continue is uncertain.

This, of course, may be officially denied, but nevertheless here are some of the inside facts regarding this cabinet friction.

The chief current issue between the two men is the fact that Secre-

Hall Sees No Rebuff to Eisenhower

WASHINGTON. — Republican National Chairman Leonard W.
Hall said today the congressional election results show there is no trend or sweep apparent against either the Republican Party or the Eisenhower administration.

"There was a complete lack of pattern in the manner of seats gained or lost in both houses," Hall said in a statement.

Democrats won the House of Representatives. On the basis of late Wednesday tabulations, the Republicans could organize the Senate with the vote of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hall said that the Republicans lost less than half the average House loss by the party in power during off-year elections since 1918.
The GOP chieftain also said the virtual stand-off in the senatorial elections was in contrast to the average loss by the dominant party in an off-year election.

Hall claimed that the results
"have upset the so-called experts who had confidently predicted a 'landslide' for the Democrats."

He said that based on the results, "we can look forward with full confidence to a continuation and expansion of the far-reaching program launched by the President and enacted into law by the 83rd Congress to bring peace and prosperity to the American people."

tary of Commerce Weeks wants labor put under the antitrust laws.
Secretary of Labor Mitchell does not.

However, the issue actually goes even deeper, to the fact that Weeks, reared in a conservative Boston business background, considered it his job to champion every form of business, even to the extent of barging into the preserve of his cabinet colleague who handles the problems of labor.

Weeks' father, a Bay State blue-blood, was secretary of war under President Harding. And Weeks himself was head of the United Carr Manufacturing company.
Reed and Barton, Silversmiths, director of Gillette Safety Razor
Pacific Mills, First National Bank,
Rand Pullman Co., Atlas Plymouth, and so on.

Mitchell, too, has represented business a good part of his life but his chief job was to represent it in dealing with labor. He was hand-picked by Governor Dewey for Ike's labor post because he knew how to deal with labor, and in a short period of time he has done a creditable job. Labor leaders, though disliking the Eisenhower administration, like Mitchell.

The Weeks-Mitchell cabinet squabble probably would be no worse than the personality tiffs that have occurred in most cabinets in the past were it not for the fact that Weeks seems so determined to prevail on the question of the antitrust laws.

He doesn't seem to care who is secretary of labor just so long as his views dominate. He fought Eisenhower's first labor secretary, Martin Durkin, and finally induced his resignation over the Taft-Hartley Act. Now, if Ike doesn't step in and stick to his cabinet knitting he may find himself looking for a new secretary of labor quicker than he thinks.

MOHAMMED ALI'S MIRACLE
Before Prime Minister Mohammed Ali rushed back to Pakistan, he achieved the near miracle of bringing CBS colored television to NBC — a diplomatic feat equal to coaxing India's Prime Minister Nehru to the capital of Pakistan, Karachi.

NBC and CBS take their rivalry over colored television so seriously that it's taboo around NBC to watch a CBS program. The competition has lasted for years, is deep-rooted and bitter. But Moammed Ali didn't know this when he was invited up to NBC's executive suite in Radio City.

A public-relations man suggested that the prime minister might like to watch colored television. Moammed agreed enthusiastically, and an NBC official recommended an appropriate NBC program.
But the prime minister had a conflicting engagement and arranged to come back later.

At the time he selected, however, there was nothing on colored television except a CBS show. So NBC was stuck with a prime minister and nothing to show him but a CBS program. Sheepishly, the NBC officials switched on CBS.

But the unfamiliar spectacle of a CBS show on an RCA set in the NBC executive offices was too much. The set, tuned to pick up NBC shows exclusively, refused to show more than a fuzzy image of the CBS program.

So embarrassed NBC officials sent their engineers up on the roof to tinker with the antennas. Finally, after considerable adjusting, the CBS show got through to NBC.

Might Be Merit in This at That

WAUPUN, Wis. — It's easy to give foreigners a wrong impression. Witness an incident in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rigg.

Mrs. Rigg decided to make a solo trip in the family car to visit relatives in southern Illinois. Rigg thought it would be a good idea for his wife to learn how to change a flat tire, just in case.

Rigg sat in the shade while his wife went to her lesson with gusto.
She had the car jacked up and the lugs off the wheel when several British West Indian natives who work at the cannery factory, of which Rigg is general superintendent, happened by.

They immediately jumped into action. Took the lug wrench from Mrs. Rigg and were well on their way to completing a tire change.

Rigg leaped to his feet and managed to send the helpful West Indians on their way, but without getting over an explanation.

Back in the cannery firm's camp, one of the West Indians asked the director.
"Have you Americans really adopted the American Indian custom of making the squaw do all the work?"

Christian Group's Farm Experiment In Japan Prospers

TOKYO. — A Christian organization may have found one practical answer to Japan's most pressing problem—how to feed its growing population of 86,000,000.

The organization literally "took to the hills" nearly seven years ago and is attempting to prove that communities can prosper in the rugged terrain that comprises 84 per cent of Japan.

The Kiyosato Education Experiment Project — called KEEP — farms 800 acres of land on the south slope of Yatsuga Mountain, 70 miles west of Tokyo.

The settlement, not yet self-supporting, is helped by businessmen and the Japanese government. In the United States it is actively supported by Episcopal Church groups and private funds.

Paul Rusch, 54, an American Episcopalian, has spent the last seven years—about half of it in the United States raising funds—making the project a going concern.

Many Contributions

Rusch, who was a lieutenant-colonel on General MacArthur's intelligence staff in Japan, has had no missionary training. He first came to Tokyo in 1925 to work with the YMCA and has spent half his life in Japan.

"We took the New England village center idea and put a kimono on it," Rusch said. The first building was a church, St. Andrew's Chapel, which doubled as a meeting house.

The settlement owes much of its prosperity to many Americans and Canadians. In May, 1950, a small group of Americans met in the Union League Club in Chicago and incorporated a committee to raise funds and supplies for the settlement. In 1951, a similar Canadian committee was formed.

The list of those with a stake in the community is a long one. The people of Detroit donated a rural library and contributors in Ohio an experimental farm. The farm was dedicated by Gen. John C. H.
Lee, retired, and currently the president of the American support-

Grains Prosper

Livestock came from all over the United States. Jerseys were sent from Tennessee, North Carolina, Kentucky, Florida and California. Herefords came from Amarillo, Texas, and prize Hereford and Holstein bulls from Nebraska and Colorado.

Petaluma, Calif., gave a flock of Hampshire red chickens, and Iowa sent tractors and modern farm machinery.

There were woolen blankets and stores of medical supplies and vaccines from the Canadians, and a jeep ambulance from Madrid, N.
Y. A company in Madison, Wis., sent a complete operating room,
and a church in Harrisburg, Pa.,

outfitted a one-room dental clinic.

Two years of experimental planting has begun to prove that seven grains and 20 kinds of vegetables can prosper in the mountain soil. Ten kinds of grass and seeds sent from Kentucky provide 80 tons of ensilage for the winter feeding.

The Japanese are intensely interested in the experiment. Some 5,000 persons will visit the settlement this year. Its success with Jersey cattle helped influence Japan's agricultural ministry to adopt a five-year plan to import 2,000 Jersey heifers.

Tea Drinkers
The United States uses only 5 percent of the world's tea. Leading tea-drinking countries are China, Great Britain, Russia and Japan, with the Chinese consuming about 900,000,000 pounds annually.

The first Lutheran service on American soil was held on Christmas Day, 1619, when a group of Danish settlers, ravished by scurvy, held services on the shores of Hudson Bay before returning to Denmark.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!
MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Notable Quotables: CHARLTON HESTON, about movie fans: "The maturity of the average movie fan seems to be on the upgrade. Lately I've noticed they've stopped asking me what I wear to bed and want to know what I read in bed."

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND, proving again she and sister Joan Fontaine have buried the feud hatchet: "I saw Joan on Broadway in 'Tea and Sympathy.' She was wonderful."

JUNE ALLYSON, about her role of the insidious wife in the film version of "The Shrike": "I think I've earned the right to be bad."

DIRECTOR ARTHUR LUBIN, about temperamental movie stars: "Real slam-bang temperament by the big people has virtually disappeared during the past few years. A decade or so ago it was the star who was king—today it's the budget."

CATHY CROSBY, daughter of Bob, about her singing career as the only girl Crosby: "There's nothing else I really want to do unless it's to try dramatic roles—if they will let me. The only thing that troubles me is being handed a career by my father. I'd like to make it on my own. I don't want anybody to think that my father is pushing me or that I'm trading on the Crosby name."

KATY JUARDO, Mexico's youngest glamor doll, about her mother role in "Broken Lance": "I never wanted to be a siren, anyhow. I just could not believe that I would be typed once I played a mother part. Now I'm a glamorous woman again in my new picture, 'The Racers.' So it shows that I did not hurt my career."

ROBERT MITCHUM, about his role of soul-saving, pathological Harry Powell in "Night of the Hunter": "The role's got me. I like it. I'm as proud of it as of anything I've ever done."

JAN AUGUST: "Why is it things always look greener in the other fellow's wallet?"

LILLIAN GISH: "Hollywood has lost its magic touch for developing new talent. Stars are born now on TV. Then they become movie stars. But it's a break for movie-goers because they know how to act by the time they arrive in Hollywood."

JANE POWELL, about her womanly role in "Seven Brides": "I've been waiting for that for a long time. I want to move forward, not backwards. I'm hoping for more mature roles. If they don't come automatically, I'm going to try to make them happen."

PRESTON FOSTER, about his old movies on TV: "The other day I drove into a gas station and got into a conversation with a lady who had seen me in a movie I must have made 20 years ago. She said: 'Hey, I saw you last night as Captain Jack on Waterfront.' Then this old movie came on. Tell me, how did you get so old overnight?"

BETTY GARRETT, about her film comeback in "My Sister Eileen": "I've turned down roles because they weren't the kind of things I wanted to do and they weren't big enough. Not that I think I deserve only big films and great parts. But you have to sort of think big to get the big ones."

JEAN HAGEN, about playing Danny Hagen's wife in "Make Room for Daddy": "It happened again the other night. I went to a night club with my husband (Tom Seidel). A gal operating in an alcove snarled at me: 'Aren't you ashamed of yourself — out with another man and Danny such a good husband!'

ANNA MARIA ALBERGHETTI, after dating John Hudson: "He's sweet and handsome and kind of fresh in the wrong way. But don't ask me which is the right way to be fresh."

JOHN CHAMPION, film producer, planning a series of films in which the pivotal characters are women: "It is not enough that one Audrey Hepburn be discovered in a single year and one Grace Kelly in the next. The whole pattern of the film industry points to a return to the woman's story."

GROUCHO MARX: "I once had a nurse who was so conceited when she took my pulse she subtracted 10 points for personality."

Ann Miller's steady, Bill O'Connor, finally permitted lenders to snap a picture of him with the star. He's always refused to pose for the flashbulb boys.

Laundry Tips for New Knee-Highs

NEW YORK — U — This is the year of the knee-high sock, whether worn with kilts, Bermuda-length shorts, or the new abbreviated skirts.

Which means that most gals will have a complete wardrobe of the knee-highs in cottons, nylons, angora mixtures and wools — plain and patterned, bulky and smooth. The knee-highs can be washed, but because they vary in color and material, it's wise to follow the tag or label washing instructions. These tips also will help you keep them in shape.

Wash knee-lengths after each wearing, as you do nylon stockings. Wash colored socks separately, and white only with other whites. Squeeze wools gently in lukewarm suds and rinses. Never rub. Then squeeze and roll them in a terry towel to blot. Spread to dry on a towel, gently smoothing and shaping them with your hands.

Cottons and the all-nylons, if heavyweight and colorful, can be washed by machine. But if they are textured or patterned, better wash them by hand. Either way, use warm soapsuds and rinses, and blot before hanging to dry.

Give the same laundry treatment you would to woolsens with nylon and angora, or cotton and wool. Shake angora socks gently to fluff the fibers before drying them.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The new custom-made look in medium-priced knitwear is one that's luring women who've never owned knitwear before to add at least one dress to their wardrobes.

Suits, dresses, coordinates and after-five dresses in off-beat designs and detailings are the knitwear fashions to look for this year. There are concertina sleeves, boned collars for new contour neckline effects, pockets patterned with smoky pearls, Angora with a beaded trim look, sailor collars that are softly draped in back, removable neckline bows. Belts are sculptured and trimmed to become an integral part of the fashion, often in accent colors.

Sleeve treatments include the three-quarter dolman, short dolman, raglan and there are even French cuffs with jeweled cuff links. Skirts are wide and flowing or are tiered, godet, four-gored, six-gored and classic rib.

We show (left) an after-five belted sheath in a grayed-blue banded in ribbon and with a scroll of ribbon trim at neckline. Wide-skirted knit (right) has sculptured top and short dolman sleeves. Both designs are by Sidney Gould.

Knitwear fashions are cut for misses, juniors and tall girls.

Social and Personal Items

Mrs. Nell Hancock Hostess

To Ledford Golden Circle

The Golden Circle Sunday school class of the Ledford Baptist church met Nov. 1 with the class president, Nell Hancock. The meeting opened with each one answering roll call with a verse of scripture.

The song "I Am Thine O Lord" was sung and prayer was offered by Agnes King. The first ten verses of the 23rd chapter of Jeremiah were read by the class teacher, Pearl Mullinix.

The minutes were read and approved and the song, "What a Friend," was sung with prayer by Hallie Waltz.

The meeting was closed with prayer.

The next meeting will be Nov. 29 at the home of Ethel Lynch. Others present were Marianna Carrier and children, Nancy Yates, Gertrude Butler and Julia Ridley.

Circle C of McKinley Baptist Holds Meeting

Mrs. Houston Smith was hostess to Circle C of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Wayne Swan was in charge of the program. After the song, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," Mrs. Grover Dale Fulkerson led in prayer.

Mrs. Wayne Newcomb gave the devotion and Mrs. Charles Fulkerson and Mrs. Elbert Norris sang "Whispering a Prayer."

Topics were given by Mrs. Norman Pickford and Mrs. Louise Fulkerson.

Others answering roll call were Mrs. Ben Yarbrough, Mrs. David Martin, Mrs. R. C. Fritts, Mrs. Carl Kuppert, Mrs. Roy Caldwell and two visitors, Mrs. Webb Yarbrough and Mrs. J. D. McCarty.

Ledford Baptist Young People Have Halloween Party

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant entertained the young people's training union class of the Liberty Baptist church with a Halloween party.

Games were played and prizes won by Jane Wasson, Agnes Hull, Raymond Hull and Marvin Horton. Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following: Wanda Pyle, Margaret Henshaw, Sarah Gibbs, Agnes Hull, Phyllis Hull, Jane Wasson, Jerry Langford, Raymond Hull, Marvin Horton, Terry Lee Cardwell and Irene Langford.
